

TUPELO

MISSISSIPPI'S "ALL AMERICA CITY"

March 2017

Welcome to the Family!

Lynsey Vanstory shows off her cake just before the shower on the third floor to celebrate Cross's arrival.

Jeremy Sapp and his wife introduced the "Sapling" to Mayor Jason Shelton recently. Another addition to the City Hall Family.

A 'Thank You' Lunch

Lt. Robert Carnathan gives a thumbs-up to the meal provided for Police officers and employees by Development Services workers and Director Shane Hooper. Chief Bart Aguirre said the department appreciates the 'thank you' lunch.

Grand Opening

The ribbon cutting ceremony outside the new Tupelo Police Department facility on Front Street.

Congratulations to Chief Bart Aguirre and the Tupelo Police Department on the grand opening of the new headquarters building.

This has been a long time in the making - nearly two decades, marking a multi-jurisdictional effort.

Construction began in April 2015, and the department began to move into the building in December.

Women's History Exhibit

March is Women's History Month and the Oren Dunn City Museum has an exhibit, courtesy of the Mississippi Department of Archives and History, in honor of 32 women who helped shape Mississippi history.

The exhibit will show that women have long been champions for progress in education, civil rights, and social reform. Although much history is written about the contributions men have made in the state's history, women also have made significant scientific discoveries and led the state in political arenas.

Take the opportunity to visit the Oren Dunn City Museum during the month of March and view this exhibit.
